

MICHAEL FLYNN

RESPONSIBILITY

RELIABILITY - OBEDIENCE - ACCOUNTABILITY

Michael Flynn is the most decorated serving soldier in the British Army. He has served in Northern Ireland, the Falklands, Iraq and Bosnia and three tours in Afghanistan. He is the recipient of the General Service Medal, the South Atlantic Medal, the Iraq Medal, the Conspicuous Gallantry Cross, the NATO Medal, and the Military Cross, amongst others.

Flynn's sustained dedication to his duty and his exceptional actions under fire reflect his profound sense of responsibility.

As a decorated soldier who saw extensive action, he demonstrated a deep understanding of and commitment to military orders and chain of command, while also showing the qualities of initiative and leadership that are vital in challenging situations.

He sees the core of the British Army's values—Courage, Integrity, Discipline, Respect for Others, Loyalty and Selfless Commitment—as a strong foundation that translates into civilian life.
